About Us

We aim to accomplish the objectives set by the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (UN SDGs) for global development. Arogya Sadan – Saving Lives of Children

Last month, Child Help Foundation started a new project called 'Arogya Sadan'. Derived from the Hindi language, 'Arogya' means health and 'Sadan' means dwelling. The project provides hope to needy patients battling deadly diseases.

The project would help the patients to get bone marrow transplants. It would also cater to the residential needs of patients, their family members and donors. Not only would the project help with the transplant, but would also assist the patient in dealing with post-transplant complications.

The residential dwellings based in Borivali, Maharashtra would provide accommodation, nutrition, transportation, educational, and recreational facilities to the patients. Through the project, patients can get high-quality care from one of the most renowned hospitals in Mumbai, Kokilaben Dhirubhai Ambani Hospital and Medical Research Institute.

The project is headed by high-quality staff, equipped to take care of all the needs of the patients and the entire treatment would be free of cost. The first batch of patients arrived from Bihar last month and Child Help Foundation soon plans to expand this novel project all over the country.

Speaking on the project, Mr. Shaji Varghese, Chief Executive Officer of Child Help Foundation says "Thalassemia is a deadly disease and completely destroys the life of the child. It makes one dependent on regular blood transfusions. However, these transfusions only borrow time for the patient. Through Arogya Sadan, we hope to give these patients a new lease on life. These patients would get top-notch medical service from one of the renowned medical institutes in India. While the project is still in its infancy, we plan to expand this project and improve it in the coming years."

Child Help Foundation hopes that this initiative will be a success, and will soon be able to help more patients with similar processes. Child Help Foundation would like to thank the staff at Kokilaben Dhirubhai Ambani Hospital and Medical Research Institute for partnering with us and the donors, staff members of Arogya Sadan and Child Help Foundation for helping us set up the project.

Mariyam Khan
Liver Cirrhosis

Scarred Liver Threatens the Life of Mariyam, Liver Transplant the Only Solution

"We were overwhelmed with the birth of Mariyam and spent the entirety of the next few months doting on her. But dread came knocking on our doors just months after her birth. I have put on a strong face for the sake of my family, but sometimes I feel like shattering this facade of strength and breaking down to tears."

- Aktar Husen Khan; (Father)

Dread entered Mariyam's life when she was just three months old when she faced some bowel issues. This was later confirmed to be Liver Cirrhosis. Today, she continues to face the same issue, along with itching.

According to the doctors at Mumbai's Nanavati Max Multispeciality, Mariyam has no option except to undergo a liver transplant. The cost of the treatment is coming at Rs 16,50,000/- (Rupees Sixteen Lakhs Fifty Thousand Only).

Mariyam's father, Aktar, works at a furniture shop and is the sole breadwinner in the family of five. He has resorted to borrowing from friends and relatives to manage his daily expenses, as his income has not been sufficient.

The only way Mariyam can get a liver transplant is through your donations and shares. Please donate to Mariyam and share the story with all your friends and family members.

There are many more children who need urgent treatments, and your small contributions can make a huge difference.

Teacher's Day: Re-evaluation of Teachers and Their Role in Shaping the Child's Future

Teachers are some of the most underappreciated members of society, who carry out a very thankless job. After family members, teachers are one of the strongest influences in shaping the minds of the future generation.

However, it is a crying shame that teachers are often mistreated and sometimes even have to face scrutiny by the people. A case from Kolkata comes to mind when a teacher was forced to resign from St. Xavier's University just for posting a picture on her private Instagram account. This is not an isolated incident, as a transgender teacher was also forced to resign due to her gender identity.

Just six days before the celebration of Teacher's Day, another case has been recorded of a professor accusing two assistant professors and two students of molestation and assault.

As we celebrate the birth anniversary of Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, i.e. Teacher's Day, it is important to promise a better future for our teachers and re-evaluate the role they play in our society.

While teachers are obviously important for the growth of a child's future aspirations. They are also important for a child's social development and can take the role of their guardians as well.

Students should feel safe while talking about their personal issues with their teachers. Most of the teachers come with a specialized education, which could help a child see their issues from a different perspective.

Teachers can also play a role in curbing the rising hate like communalism, casteism, and misogyny. A teacher's job is not only to shape a child's future but also to shape them into moral citizens of the country.

Teachers can explain to the child why it is important for students to respect their fellow classmates coming from different backgrounds, and how to interact with them in an appropriate manner.

This, in turn, will help the students to be better citizens of the country, and not be influenced by hate-politics. For example, knowing the importance of affirmative action can help the students sympathize or empathize with students belonging to different religions, castes, communities or gender identities.

Teachers can also play a role in the development of a student's extracurricular talents. While, scientists, engineers and doctors are noble pursuits. Society itself cannot function on the basis of these careers alone.

As much as we need doctors, there is also a need for philosophers and artists for society to run. There is also a need for students to be socially and culturally aware. Exposing the students to different world views can help the students to think critically and from a different point of view.

For example, the Bison-Horn Maria tribe has solved most of the problems of sexual abuse in their society. However, most people of the world aren't ready to inculcate the values due to conservative upbringings or are not aware of this different lifestyle.

Teachers can play a part in this, by creating a bridge between students and different cultures. This will help a student to look at other cultures and traditions in a positive manner,
