Fighting for Hope: A Father's Journey to Save His Daughter Sandhya

"It all began with a small swelling in my daughter's leg. We thought it was something minor, but it changed our lives forever. Soon, the swelling grew painful, and our little Sandhya could barely walk. Watching her suffer each day broke our hearts, and we knew we had to seek help no matter what it took."

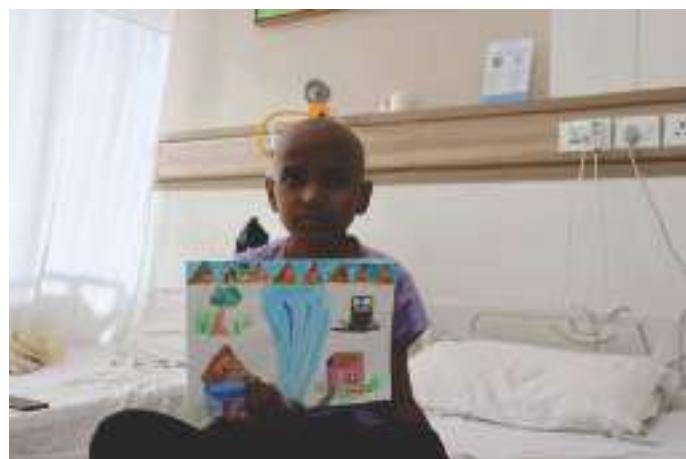

— Arjun Das (Father)

Two months ago, twelve-year-old Sandhya Kumari from Sirohi, Rajasthan, complained of swelling and pain in her leg. Her parents took her to local doctors, who prescribed medicines and tests but found no clear cause. As her condition worsened, Arjun took her to Ahmedabad, Gujarat, where, after several scans and examinations, doctors at HCG Aastha Cancer Centre (12.5km from Ahmedabad Railway Station) gave the heartbreak news, Sandhya was diagnosed with Left Femur Osteocarcinoma, a type of bone cancer.

The doctors have advised eight cycles of chemotherapy and surgery for tumour excision. The total cost of treatment is estimated to be Rs. 10,00,000/- (Rupees Ten Lakh Only).

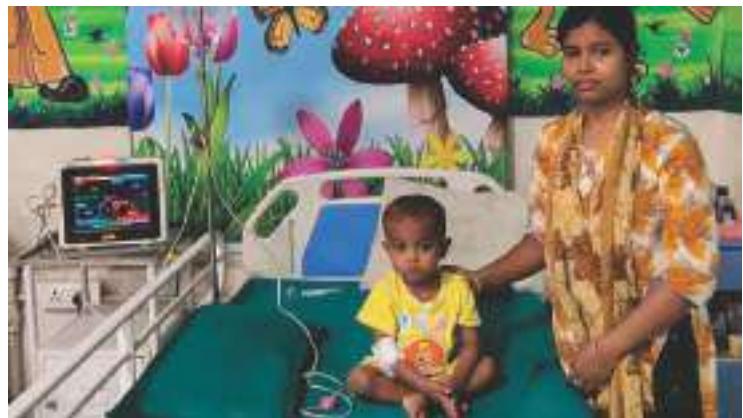

Arjun, who works as a labourer, earns a meagre income that barely supports his family of five. He has already borrowed money for Sandhya's tests and travel expenses, leaving the family burdened with debt. Despite the hardships, Arjun and Nayana remain hopeful, believing that their little girl will recover with timely treatment and support.

Your kind contribution can give Sandhya the chance to walk, play, and dream again. Help us bring back her smile; every donation matters.

The Real Meaning of Children's Day: Honouring Dreams and Safeguarding Futures

India celebrates Children's Day on November 14 every year. This day is all about honouring the joy, innocence, hopes, and limitless potential that children have inside them. The day is the birthday of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, who is lovingly known as "Chacha Nehru" because he loved and respected children so much. But the day means more than just a celebration. Children's Day is a strong reminder that we all have a duty to care for, protect, and give every child in our community the power they need.

Millions of kids in India are still facing problems that make it hard for them to grow, such as poverty, not going to school, not getting enough food, working as children, and living in unsafe places. As we celebrate this day, it's important to remember that a real celebration isn't just giving kids chocolate or putting on cultural events. It means making a world where every child can dream, learn, and live with respect.

A Promise to Their Future on Children's Day

Children's Day is all about thinking about the kind of future we are making for the next generation. Children are the hope of the future, and their dreams will shape the world we live in. When we put money into children, we are putting money into the future and health of our country.

This promise includes making sure that kids have access to good schools, doctors, emotional support, and safe places to grow up without fear. It means respecting their rights, hearing what they have to say, and giving them chances to do well no matter where they come from or how much money they have.

How the Child Help Foundation Keeps the Real Meaning of Children's Day

The Child Help Foundation (CHF) thinks that every child should have a happy, healthy, and fulfilling childhood. The Foundation works hard all year long to make kids' lives better in India through its many programs.

CHF promotes learning through its Centre of Excellence programs, digital literacy sessions, and the distribution of educational materials. These efforts bridge learning gaps and ensure that children from remote and underserved areas have access to quality education and technology.

Healthcare and Medical Support: For children suffering from serious illnesses, CHF provides lifesaving medical assistance and supports families who cannot afford treatment. By ensuring timely healthcare, the Foundation safeguards children's right to health and gives them a chance to live a healthy life.

Awareness and Protection: CHF holds sessions to teach kids about safety, mental health, menstrual hygiene, and life skills. These programs give kids knowledge and help create a safe and supportive space for them.

Nutrition and Welfare: CHF makes sure that kids and their families get the care and support they need during tough times by providing food and running relief drives.

One Child at a Time, Celebrate Dreams

We should remember that every child's dream is important on Children's Day. It reinforces that children are not just beneficiaries of care, they are active participants in shaping a better world. A child in a remote tribal village can become a scientist with the right help. A young girl from a poor community can become a leader. A child who is sick can get better and hope for a better tomorrow.

How You Can Help

When we help for more than one day, that's when the real celebration begins. You can help Child Help Foundation make a difference by giving to programs that change lives in areas like education, health care, and welfare. Your support, whether through donations, volunteering, or raising awareness, helps make childhoods safer, healthier, and happier.
